COURSE POLICIES

Students with Disabilities: If you have a disability requiring assistance of any sort, please speak to a CAAS manager immediately. We will gladly make any accommodations needed.

Phone/Computer Usage: All cell phones are to be silenced prior to CLASS. We will not tolerate any text messaging or phone calls being made during CLASS. There isn't anything that needs to be discussed that cannot wait until CLASS has ended. Likewise, if you are using an electronic device (computer, Kindle, Nook, iPad, etc) to follow along, you are not to be updating your status on Facebook, tweeting about CLASS and/or your desire to leave, or engaging on various social media websites. We expect your full attention. It really is quite simple.

Tardiness/Absences: We expect you to arrive on time and stay for the entire CLASS.

Professionalism: You are an adult, and we expect you to act as one. We require respect for the institution of higher education, your instructor, and your peers. We will not tolerate any belligerence. We will not tolerate any student discriminating against another on the basis of race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, age, nationality, or disability. You are attending college to expose yourself to new ideas. You are to respect others and their opinions. This is not about tolerance, but mutual respect.
